

Diggin.pl Compilation vol. 1 – Diggin Deeper www.diggin.pl - our music recommendations

Etam Etamski – a producer from Szczecin, member of silentThunder. His musical skills seem to be unlimited, he's a total musical nonconformist and anarchist. Simple-minded and chaotic. Fan of Gombrowicz, Velvet Underground, free jazz, coffee, cardamom and cinnamon.
<http://myspace.com/etametamski>

The Complainer – the newest project from Wojtek Kucharczyk, the owner of mik.music.! label, he's an active participant of the underground and electronic scene. "Old electro -buzzard that shows young cats how to do retro... entertainment on the highest level" - wrote "The Wire". That should be enough.
<http://www.thecomplainer.mikmusik.org>

Aldo Vanucci – producer, remixer, DJ who plays varied kinds of music. Glad to have the title of "Plymouths 14th best DJ". He published two EP's on Catskills Records and opened his own label called Ride Records.
<http://myspace.com/aldovanucci>

Director's Cut – two producers from Silesia. In 2006 they recorded their first instrumental album which was received very well by many listeners. Actually they work on their second album with some female vocalists. We will have to wait for the result until 2008.
<http://myspace.com/directorscutpl>

Bontone – nice homeboy from Wrocław. He was awarded for his bouncy Skalpels' "Break In" remix in Ninja Tune competition. He's a DJ and a producer. He doesn't like pigeons and he really gets pissed off when people feed them from upper floors.
<http://myspace.com/bontone>

Lama – lives in the capital of Norway. He was born in a small town near the Scandinavian seaside where stars shine and water is really clear like anywhere else in the world. He started playing piano when he was four. Then came saxophone and many more instruments. Today he's twenty and sometimes plays with Jaga Jazzist.
<http://myspace.com/lamamusic>

Dustplastic – duo of producers – Praktik and Piotrek Pacak – also on vocals. They prove that Poles can also produce fresh neo-soul tracks with male's vocals. They are about to prepare full album.
<http://myspace.com/dustplastic>

Jon Kennedy – some people mistake him for with the famous US president, but he's actually rather into music. He likes percussion especially. His productions were released on Tru Thoughts and Grand Central. He made a great number of remixes. Some time ago he opened his own brand - Jon Kennedy Federation.
<http://www.jonkennedy.co.uk>

Ludzie Smutni – a project inspired by sadness, pain, boredom and misery of everyday life. Sad People are lost. Nobody knows which way they will go. Maybe they will bump into a tree or step into nettles.
<http://myspace.com/ludziesmutni>

Gong Gong – a French duo playing funny, perfectly formed, open music. Their productions are very energetic and present their vision of electronic music blended with pop, post rock and bunch of other music genres. They are signed to a well known label – FCOM. On the compilation you can hear their hit „Kawabata” remixed by French Guy Number8.
<http://gonggong.free.fr>

En2ak – he lives somewhere among huge block of flats in Wrocław. He is a student at the faculty of culture studies and doesn't eat meat. He always has his big headphones. Some say that even while taking bath.
<http://myspace.com/en2ak>

Baaba – band from Warsaw founded some time ago by Bartek Webber. In the beginning Baaba was Webber's solo electronic project but in the course of time it has changed into a regular band. Today Baaba is one of the most crazy improvising bands in Poland. The other band members are Macio Moretti, Wojtek Mazolewski and Tomek Duda.
<http://www.baaba.org>

Coa Kini – lives in Brighton, the British factory of great bits. His music fits perfectly to the place he comes from.
<http://myspace.com/coakini>

Kixnare – comes from Czestochowa but it is in New York sounds that we feel at home. He became better known after producing some tracks for Grammatik, Smarki Smark, Te Tris, Eldo, Szybki Szmalek and „Junoudet”. He remixed whole J-Live's album and lots of other stuff from the golden era.
<http://myspace.com/kixnare>

The B.I.O. Project – an audiovisual creation based on a trip to Budapest by some french artist (Gangpol & Mit, Gilou) and polish artist from Mik Musik label (Deuce, Marcin Zarzeka). After two workshops in Budapest and Poznan, this crazy show has been performed by all those artists together in February 2007 in Poland and March 2007 in France. "Poppy Red" is a song about a famous striptease club in Budapest. No more comments.
<http://www.bioproject.eu>

Dvorako – one half of Director's Cut. He plans to make his solo stuff. Track called „Live's A Bitch" is a kind of an introduction to what he is going to produce in the nearest future. We can expect the album in 2008.
dvorakpl@yahoo.com

Przasnik – co-project of En2ak and Bontone. These guys don't only drink beer and play Tekken or Tony Hawk together. They also play parties and of course produce some tracks.
<http://myspace.com/przasnik>